ROBERT DRAGOO LEAPS FROM WINDOW

Midnight Saturday While Out of His Mind, But Sustains No Injuries.

Robert Dragoo had a very narrow escape from death Saturday night when he jumped from the second window of the Merritt boarding house on Water street. Dragoo has been ill of the flu for the past two weeks, and had been staying close to his room. During the latter part of the week it developed into double pneumonia, and it is thought that his mind was deranged he leaped from the window. When asked by a landlady what he meant by this, he said that he was just cleaning his room, and walked back up the stairs and for the remainder of the night seemed to rest more easily. The next morning he walked over to Burton Roberts' garage and stayed there for several minutes, at the time being out of his mind. Mr. Roberts notified a physician of the man's condition and he was removed to the Pattie A. Clay Infirmary, where he is receiving medical attention.

Mrs. Dragoo and baby are visiting her parents in Nicholasville, and it is believed that she had no knowledge of her husband's condition. Dragoo has been employed by the J. W. Zarlin Grain & Mill Company for some time and was a faithful employee.

Supreme Court Upholds Reed Bone Dry Law

Washington, Jan. 13.—Bulletin.—The Supreme Court today held the Reed "bone dry" prohibition amendment prohibits interstate transportation into dry states of intoxicating liquors, for beverage purposes, even when intended for personal use. Justice McCreary holds, in a dissenting opinion, concurred in by Justice Clark, declared the Reed amendment was not an interstate commerce regulatory measure, but direct intermeddling with a state's affairs and beyond federal powers.

As interpreted by the Court, the Reed law nullifies State statutes permitting a limited amount of liquor to be brought in for personal use.

HOME HOUSE SELLS ENTIRE CROP AT $66

All Crop Averages Broken On Richmond Market This Morning With Prices Still On the Boom.

The Home Warehouse "took the candy" this morning when it sold the entire crop of Burnam and Shelton, Madison county tobacco growers, at an average of 66 cents a pound. The lowest basket sold was 65 cents and the highest 69 cents and a total of 2,500 pounds were sold at this price.

Prominent Forest Hill Farmer A Flu Victim

Homer Butler, a well known farmer of the Forest Hill section, died at his home last week, after a short illness, of influenza. His death comes as a great shock to a wide circle of friends and loved ones, and to his widow and little 10-days-old daughter who survive, the tenderest sympathies of all go out in their dark hour of affliction and sorrow. Mr. Butler was only 28 years of age, and numbered his friends by his acquaintances. He was straight in his dealings with every man, a perfect gentleman in every respect; one who will be missed in Madison county. He was a devoted member of the Christian church; a true believer in Jesus Christ and practiced his teachings as best he knew. About a year ago he was married to Miss Irene Hastings, of Winchester. After their honeymoon they moved to a new home near Forest Hill. Ten days ago they had the pleasure of having added to their family as beautiful a baby girl as was ever looked at. One week ago the great monster that is raging thruout the country wound its iron clasp about him and although every thing was done in human power to keep him here, it proved unavailing, and on a beautiful Sabbath morning his spirit took its flight to a mansion in the sky. The deceased is survived by his wife and little daughter, his mother, Mrs. C. T. Butler, three brothers, David Butler, of Clark county, Walter Butler, of Clark county, and Tom Butler, a full partner with him on the farm at Forest Hill; four sisters, Mrs. M. E. Pigg, of the Forest Hill section; Mrs. J. C. Bowman, of Richmond; Mrs. Vernon Farris, of Lexington, and a single sister, Miss Ollie Butler. Funeral services will be held today at 3 o'clock at the grave in Richmond cemetery, conducted by Dr. D. H. Matherly.—Contributed.

"Laugh—Grow Fat" Arbuckle's Motto

If you desire to grow fat and live long—laugh every chance you get. That is the philosophy of Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle, who will be seen in his latest mirth-provoker, "The Cook" at the local theatres Tuesday.

"I believe laughter to be the greatest health tonic known to mankind," Mr. Arbuckle recently said. "The man who laughs, grows fat. I don't mean that he should assume hereulean proportions but that laughter should take the wrinkles out of his face and vest just a little." And in "The Cook," Mr. Arbuckle has ample opportunity to prove the soundness of his philosophy for his laugh-making stunts are ex-cruciatingly funny.

CONCERNED ONLY WITH BIG RESULTS

American Peace Delegates Will Not Be Mixed Up In Petty Quarrels Over Territorial Rights, Etc.

Paris, Jan. 13.—The first business before the Supreme War Council when it assembled this afternoon was settlement of the question of representation in the first session of the interallied conference it developed that China will not be represented by Japan but will have its own delegation. Meanwhile it is still unsettled what nations will be represented or the number of delegates to be allotted to each.

Nothing has developed to alter the statement that the American delegates are primarily concerned with the creation of a league of nations and the making of a just peace. Territorial ambitions, local quarrels and rivalry for economic advantage are secondary in the minds of the Americans who are concerned only with assurances that these details when worked out, will square with the principles to be laid down for the preservation of peace.

Woman Leader of the Berlin Reds Captured

Berlin, Sunday, Jan. 12.—Rosa Luxemburg, associated with Dr. Karl Liebknecht, in leadership of the rebellious Spartacan forces in Berlin, has been arrested by government soldiers according to newspaper reports. Her arrest is said to have been made when troops cleaned out the central offices of the Spartacans last night, the capture of which was effected with the free use of hand grenades. The real revolutionary headquarters for the entire insurgent campaign have been in this building and its capture leaves the revolutionists without an important stronghold in greater Berlin, except the Silesian railway station, and its approaches which are strongly fortified with machine guns. The Spartacan force at that point is estimated at 600, including many women. There are indications that the Spartacans have begun to realize the gravity of their situation.

Meanwhile Dr. Karl Radek, one of the Russian Bolshevik emissaries in Berlin has been arrested, according to reports.

SILESIA STATION FALLS

Berlin, Jan. 12, 6 p. m.—Bulletin.—The Silesian railway station, the last important stronghold of the Spartacans in Greater Berlin, is now in possession of the government forces. The Spartacans lost courage when troops prepared to attack the station and fled without attempting a defense.

Sergeant Logan Burnam, who went to France with the 138th Field Artillery, has been mustered out from Camp Taylor and has returned home.

A "Gentleman From Missouri."

It's hard to convince a lot of folks in this town that something can and will be done toward getting that sewer system and paved streets in Richmond. In other words there seem to be a lot of folks "from Missouri." Well, now that the war's over they must be "shown." Richmond can sell those bonds we voted above par now, and the sooner the matter is given a little momentum, the better. Let's go. But here's one of the "Missouri" gentlemen, who must be "shown something." Let's do it. Not only to satisfy his curiosity but if we do that we're doing something that will be a lasting benefit to the town and community and for which we shall be called blessed for generations to come. He writes:

Richmond, Ky., Jan. 6, 1919.
Richmond Daily Register, City.

Dear Mr. Editor:—

Your reference to the wholesale grocer who claimed he saw the first robin was duly noted; also the fact that there seemed to be a suspicion in your mind that possibly there might be some excuse for people seeing things at about the New Year, altho you did exonerate the grocer mentioned and said that he was in possession of all his faculties when he sighted the bird.

It seems to me that a hard working grocer ought to be privileged to see such a little thing as a robin most any time of the year if you newspaper men are going to be privileged to continually catch sight of paved streets, White Ways, and things of that sort, which are so large. You had better be careful how your mind runs on this subject or the first thing you know you will get to believing that we really have paved streets and try to run your automobile over some of our crossings on that basis, and there will have to be a hurry call made to the factory for new springs.

Lexington Paper Praises

Work of Richmond Girls

The Daily Register has a couple of young ladies who do splendid work for it, little Misses Helen and Hazel Trower, and is proud of them. The Lexington Herald Sunday carried the pictures of its two local carriers, Misses Mary Bronston and Lou Wells, and paid these two popular young ladies the following compliment which their many local friends will be glad to read:

Here's a bit of advice, direct from the school of experience, to young ladies whose health may not be the best, whose weight may be short and whose appetite may be off. Don't run to the doctor. Don't read the patent medicine ads. and run to the drug store. Don't get excited.

Be a newsgirl!

That's the advice given by Miss Wells and Miss Mary Bronston, two Richmond girls who practice what they preach, very much to the satisfaction of some 150 families of this city, who have Misses Wells and Bronston to thank for getting the Lexington Herald promptly before breakfast every morning.

And they declare it's the most healthful and invigorating practice—this getting up in the early winter morning and out into the fresh air, visiting 150 homes before breakfast—that anyone can imagine. And Miss Wells, who struck upon the scheme when everything else had failed to improve her health, was rewarded not long ago by seeing the scales tip to just 14 pounds more than they ever did before. Naturally she's enthusiastic.

And while the girls are priding themselves on their job, subscribers to the Herald there are just as pleased about it as they are. For they do say that, regardless of sex no one has ever given such satisfaction, such regular and prompt delivery, since the Herald first entered Richmond.

Dance at Winchester.

The dance given by several young ladies of the city in honor of a returning hero, Cecil Elkin, was a lovely compliment. The affair was held in the Elks ball room which was fittingly decorated in the national colors. The young ladies were charmingly attired in evening dresses, and quite a number of the young gentlemen were in uniform, the scene was beautiful as they kept time of the strains of the music. At nine o'clock the grand march began, leading it was the young marine, looking so splendid in his uniform and wearing his red cord of service, a distinction bestowed by the French government for valor, with him was his cousin, Miss Inez Elkin. The young ladies wore flags of the allies in their coiffures and the young gentlemen carried American flags. The march ended in a beautiful tableau with a figure of Uncle Sam in the center. The day's night, luncheon was served. The on their was beautiful in its entirety. Among the guests from a distance were Rodas and Browning Terrill Dell Azbill and Oscar Stanifer, of Richmond, and Ed Goldsborough, of Cynthiana. The young ladies giving the dance were Misses Marie Bloomfield, Inez Elkin, Elizabeth Miller and Alphas and Bess Summers.—Winchester Sun.

SEWELL GOES ON

COMPENSATION BOARD

State Inspector and Examiner Nat B. Sewell, was appointed a member of the Workmen's Compensation Board to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late S. W. Hager, of Owensboro. The appointment will expire in the spring, when Mr. Sewell probably will be appointed for the full term of four years. Mr. Sewell has made a remarkable record in the office in the volume of work accomplished, including much special investigation for the benefit of the three sessions of the General Assembly. His analysis of abuses of the committee system of caring for pauper idiots had considerable weight in the enactment in 1918, providing for a farm colony and segregation of feeble-minded persons.

He also is credited with much of the work in connection with the "probe committee" program of reform legislation, by which many state offices were consolidated. He was regarded as a likely candidate for state office next fall, but his appointment on the Compensation Board disposes of this possibility. Sewell's new place gives him an increase of $500 a year more than his salary as State Inspector and Examiner, which was $3,000. Each of the members of the Compensation Board receive $3,500.

FRIDAY COURIER-JOURNAL

CHERRY INDORSED BY HIS HOME PEOPLE

Great Assembly Cheer the Noted Educator and Adopt Stirring Resolutions Endorsing
His Candidacy for Governor.

A great mass meeting was held at Bowling Green on Saturday, December 28th, to endorse the candidacy of Dr. H. H. Cherry for the Democratic nomination for Governor. It was an enthusiastic meeting, and one which showed that the people of his native county, among whom he has lived and worked all his life, appreciate his qualities of life and leadership.

Dr. H. H. CHERRY, Bowling Green.

and are back of his candidacy. Mr. Morgan Hughes, a fellow-townsmen of Dr. Cherry, and a noted western Kentucky farmer, reported, as chairman of the Committee on Resolutions, the following resolutions, which were unanimously and enthusiastically adopted:

"The Democrats of Warren county, hailing from every precinct within her borders, in mass meeting assembled do hereby confidently and enthusiastically commend to the Democracy of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, the candidacy of H. H. Cherry, who seeks his party's nomination as its candidate for Governor, at the primary election to be held on August 2, 1919. Dr. Cherry was born and reared in Warren county, springing from a Christian family of hardy pioneers. Here he has spent his life. Here he has risen by his unaided efforts, from a humble farmer-lad to become the head of a great educational institution, in which the people everywhere feel a justified pride; and from here his influence for good has radiated throughout the entire State. Every forward-looking movement for the credit of the State and the welfare of the people has always had in him an earnest and effective champion. Every moral issue which has risen has always found him on the right side. Every progressive measure which has been proposed, whether for governmental efficiency, educational expansion, agricultural betterment, or purity in politics, has always received his unflinching support. He is an earnest and life-long Democrat, who has hitherto been content to be a worker in the ranks. His excellent ability, tried through years of experience, and tested by many difficulties, is of the highest order. Personally honest, politically incorruptible, trained in the difficult work of intelligent and effective leadership, he is eminently qualified to fill the office of Governor, with credit alike to himself and to the Commonwealth. We, his fellow-county men, earnestly endorse his candidacy, and confidently bespeak for him the generous support of every Democrat everywhere throughout the entire State."

Dr. Cherry has issued a progressive program. In his announcement he states that he submits his desires to the people, and under no circumstances will he be a candidate of any political faction. He stands for perfecting the tax and road laws; for organizing the finances of the State upon a sound, equitable and just basis; for economy and efficiency in all departments of State government, for the elimination of every useless job and all forms of waste; for local, State and National prohibition; for the right of suffrage for the women of the State equally with the men; for safeguarding and promoting the rights of the laboring man; for better rural schools; for better health conditions; for a non-partisan judiciary, and, for the non-partisan management of charitable and penal institutions, free from all political influences. He also endorses reforms along other vital lines. He believes that capital should be encouraged to come within our borders; that labor should be secured and receive fair treatment and just compensation; that education should drive illiteracy from the State, and agriculture, which is the basis of our wealth, should be fostered and raised to the highest degree of efficiency. He declares that Kentucky needs more fields of alfalfa, more agricultural limestone, and other things, and less political bismuth.

If you endorse this character of a man and the principles he advocates, Dr. Cherry would value your support, and if you feel like writing him, he would greatly appreciate hearing from you.

Madison Boy Has Been Fighting Bolsheviki

John Walker Ballard, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ballard, formerly of this county, is on the U. S. S. Olympia, and has been stationed with it recently at Archangel, Russia where there has been some little trouble with the Bolsheviki in which the boys from Uncle Sam's ship had a hand. A Sunday paper had a picture of a soldier and a sailor from the Olympia counting Bolsheviki prisoners and although nothing but the back of the American sailor could be seen, it did not look unlike that of the sturdy Madison county boy who is on that warship. Young Ballard has just written his mother an interesting letter in which he says:

U. S. S. Olympia, Dec. 5, 1918.
Dear Mother—I wrote to you a few days ago and thought I would write again as the censorship has been stopped, so we can write what we want to. Well, I have been in Russia for the last seven months. We were at Murmansk, Russia five months and a while at Archangel, so then we left there and on to Invergraden, Scotland, and are now at present at Portsmouth, England. We have been here over a week and in dry docks. We will be here for a few weeks and then they say we will go to Philadelphia, but I don't know how true it is. They have been giving ten days' leave here, but I have not got mine yet. It is only 80 miles to London so that when I get mine, I will go.

Everything is very high. We saw two German subs come in here yesterday. I will not attempt to tell you what I have seen or what I have been through. We had to fight the Russians, or some of them—the ones that took sides with the Germans—but we had good luck and never lost a man.

I had my picture taken and will send you one. I get liberty every other night and have been having some time. There is plenty of amusement here and a dance every night and lots of good looking girls, and they sure do like American sailors.

Murmansk, Russia, is the worst place I ever saw. We could not buy anything and could not see much. But Archangel was a large place and we could buy a few things or most any little thing. We brought some soldiers from Archangel to Invergraden. They were wounded and they were shot up pretty badly.

I have seen the sun shine at 12 o'clock at night but now it is dark all the time in Russia.

Hope I will hear from you soon and a long letter. Your son,
J. W. BALLARD, JR.

Mr. John Hurst Adams, formerly connected with the Eastern Kentucky State Normal School in the capacity of publicity and field agent, but who is at present Superintendent of the big consolidated school at Minerva, Mason county, in addition to his educational duties, has recently been made editor of the Mayville Daily Independent, the leading newspaper of Northeastern Kentucky. Besides writing daily the leading editorials on current topics, which are exceedingly well done and have decided brightened the pages of the Independent. Mr. Adams also contributes every week a column of spicy political gossip under the caption of "Kentucky Politics and Politicians," which is a most readable feature of the paper. He has recently been appointed a member of the Textbook Commission, and is one of the coming Kentucky educators. Mrs. Adams, who before her marriage was Miss Anna Louise Rhoer, is a graduate of the Eastern Normal. She is assisting her husband in the conduct of the Minerva school, and they are meeting with much success in their new field of activity. "OVER THE TOP,"

Sergeant Empey's Interesting
Story of the War.

About seven-fifteen I sneaked my overcoat and cap out of the ward and hid it in the bushes. Then I told the nurse, a particular friend of mine, that I was going for a walk in the rose garden. She winked and I knew that everything was all right on my end.

Going out of the ward, I slipped into the bushes and made for the wall. It was dark as pitch and I was groping through the underbrush, when suddenly I stepped into space and felt myself rushing downward, a horrible bump, and blackness. When I came to my wounded shoulder was hurting horribly. I was lying against a circular wall of bricks, dripping with moisture, and far away I could hear the trickling of water. I had in the darkness fallen into an old disused well. But why wasn't I wet? According to all rules I should have been drowned. Perhaps I was and didn't know it.

As the shock of my sudden stop gradually wore off it came to me that I was lying on a ledge and that the least movement on my part would precipitate me to the bottom of the well.

I struck a match. In its faint glare I saw that I was lying in a circular hole about twelve feet deep—the well had been filled in! The dripping I had heard came from a water pipe over on my right.

With my wounded shoulder it was impossible to shilly up the pipe. I could not yell for help, because the rescuer would want to know how the accident happened, and I would be haled before the commandant on charges. I just had to grin and bear it, with the forlorn hope that one of the returning night raiders would pass and I could give him our usual signal of "sis-s-s-s-s," which would bring him to the rescue.

Every half-hour I could hear the clock in the village strike, each stroke bringing forth a muffled volley of curses on the man who had dug the well.

After two hours I heard two men talking in low voices. I recognized Corporal Cook, an ardent "night raider." He heard my "sis-s-s-s-s" and came to the edge of the hole. I explained my predicament and amid a lot of impertinent remarks, which at the time I did not resent, I was soon fished out.

Taking off our boots, we sneaked into the ward. I was sitting on my bed in the dark, just starting to undress, when the man next to me, "Ginger" Phillips, whispered, "Op it, Yank, 'ere comes the matron."

I immediately got under the covers and feigned sleep. The matron stood talking in low tones to the night nurse and I fell asleep.

When I awoke in the morning the night sister, an American, was heading over me. An awful sight met my eyes. The coverlet on the bed and the sheets were a mass of mud and green slime. She was a good sport all right, and hustled to get clean clothes and sheets so that no one would get wise, but "on her own," she gave me a good tongue lashing but did not report me. One of the Canadians in the ward described her as being "a Jake of a good fellow."

Next visiting day I had an awful time explaining to my visitor why I had not met her at the appointed time and place.

And for a week every time I passed a patient he would call, "Well, well, here's the Yank. Hope you are feeling well, old top."

The surgeon in our ward was an American, a Harvard unit man, named Frost. We nicknamed him "Jack Frost." He was loved by all. If a Tommy was to be cut up he had no objection to undergoing the operation if "Jack Frost" was to wield the knife. Their confidence in him was pathetic. He was the best sport I have ever met.

One Saturday morning the commandant and some "high up" officers were inspecting the ward, when one of the patients who had been wounded in the head by a bit of shrapnel, fell on the floor in a fit. They brought him round, and then looked for the ward orderly to carry the patient back to his bed at the other end of the ward. The orderly was nowhere to be found—like our policemen, they never are when needed. The officers were at a loss how to get Palmer into his bed. Doctor Frost was fidgeting around in a nervous manner, when suddenly with a muffled "d—n" and a few other qualifying adjectives, he stooped down and took the man in his arms like a baby—he was no feather, either—and staggered down the ward with him, put him in bed and undressed him. A low murmur of approval came from the patients. Doctor Frost got very red, and as soon as he had finished undressing Palmer, hurriedly left the ward.

Catarrh is a Real Enemy and Requires Vigorous Treatment

Do Not Neglect It.

When you use medicated sprays, atomizers and douches for your Catarrh, you may succeed in unstopping the choked-up air passages for the time being, but this annoying condition returns, and you have to do the same thing over and over again. Catarrh has never yet been cured by these local applications. Have you ever experienced any real benefit from such treatment?

Throw these makeshift remedies to the winds, and get on the right treatment. Go to your drug store to-day, get a bottle of S. S. S., and commence a treatment that has been praised by sufferers for nearly half a century. S. S. S. gets right at the source of Catarrh, and forces from the blood the germs which cause the disease. You can obtain special medical advice regarding your own case without charge by writing to Medical Director, 22 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.
